

To be or not to be Charlie? The impact of group affiliation on the processing of others' emitted social signals

Grèzes, Julie

PUBLICATION DATE

4/29/2015

ABSTRACT

The Brains that pull the Triggers. 1st Conference on Syndrome E, Paris IAS, 28-29 April 2015

Minimal group procedure

Here we assigned participants to their group using drawing lots

You belong to the Green Group

You belong to the Blue Group

© 2022 PARIS IAS - To be or not to be Charlie? The impact of group affiliation on the processing of others' emitted social signals by Grèzes J. - ENS Paris, France -. This article is available online at <https://paris.pias.science/to-be-charlie-the-impact-of-group-affiliation-on-the-processing-of-others-emitted-social-signals>

Participants' levels of identification, appreciation, pride of belonging to and commitment toward the group were higher toward in-group as compared to out-group members (all ts(19)>2.60, all ps<0.02).

To be or not to be Charlie? The impact of group affiliation on the processing of others' emitted social signals