

Virtual Realities, Real Experiences Perspectives from Behavioral & Neuroscience Studies – Program

Paris Institute for Advanced Study, France,
Ecole normale Supérieure Paris, France,

TO CITE

Paris Institute for Advanced Study & Ecole normale Supérieure Paris. (2022). Virtual Realities, Real Experiences. Perspectives from Behavioral & Neuroscience Studies (Vol. 4). https://paris.pias.science/articles/VIRT_2022_1_virtual-realities-real-experience-program

PUBLICATION DATE

17/02/2022

ABSTRACT

Virtual Realities, real experiences. Perspectives from behavioral and neuroscience studies. Paris IAS, 17 February 2022

Program

17 February 2022

13:00 Saadi Lahlou (Paris IAS), Gretty Mirdal (Paris IAS): Welcome by the Paris Institute for Advanced Study

Beatrice de Gelder (Paris IAS and Maastricht University), Julie Deneckere (Paris IAS)

13:20 Mel Slater (University of Barcelona): Presence, body ownership and vicarious agency - The role of embodiment

14:00 Antonia Hamilton (UCL): Face-to-face interaction matters

14:45 Juanzhi Li (Maastricht University): A VR_EEG Study on automatic threat perception and its neural correlates

15:00 Manuel Mello (Sapienza University): The Effect of body posture, outgroup affiliation, and social context on the perception of threat

15:15 Mavi Sanchez-Vives (ICREA): My virtual self as you: agency and perspective in VR

16:00 Anatole Lecuyer (INRIA): How haptics can improve subjective experience in virtual re

16:40 Alain Berthoz (Collège de France): Review of some major questions

17:10 General Discussion